DCIT 65 - SOCIAL AND PROFESSIONAL ISSUES

Portfolio	01 Title: Social Context of Computing
Objective:	The student will analyze the given situation. Then, answer the following question regarding the rights of a person.
PROBLEM:	Mr. Hendrik is a successful businessman owning several businesses before becoming a millionaire before the age of 25. Mr. Hendrik business meeting was often taken into some risky locations resulting to Mr. Hendrik hires professional bodyguards to protect him and stays with him most of the time. Mr. Hendrik provided his bodyguards with their own office and sleeping area inside his house. However, without telling the bodyguards, Mr. Hendrik secretly installed video cameras and listening devices inside their office and sleeping areas to know what they are doing and to listen to what they are saying. In his belief, this helps him feel safer without the bodyguards knowing they are monitored. Questions 1. Do you think Mr. Hendrik is doing something wrong or possibly violating a law? Why or why not? 2. Do the bodyguards still have a right to privacy even if they are staying inside Mr. Hendrik's house? 3. Do you think Mr. Hendrik has the right to know everything his bodyguards are doing in their private quarters? Why or why not?

Criteria (Total Score: 20)	Excellent (5 Points)	Proficient (3-4 Points)	Developing (1-2 Points)	Needs Improvement (0 Points)
Analysis & Legal/Ethical Reasoning (Focus: Question 1)	Clearly evaluates whether Mr. Hendrik's actions are wrong or illegal. Fully supports the argument using relevant concepts (e.g., informed consent, expectation of privacy, surveillance ethics).	Identifies whether the action is wrong/illegal and provides a basic, logical explanation, though deeper ethical/legal principles could be expanded.	States an opinion but provides minimal or weak reasoning; lacks grounding in clear ethical standards or legal concepts.	Answer is missing, incorrect, or lacks any clear explanation or reasoning.
Understanding Rights & Boundaries (Focus: Questions 2 & 3)	Demonstrates a thorough understanding of workplace vs. personal privacy rights, accurately addressing the boundaries in private quarters vs. property ownership.	Demonstrates a general understanding of privacy rights in private spaces, though the distinction between property rights and personal rights lacks full depth.	Shows limited comprehension of privacy rights; relies heavily on surface-level arguments (e.g., 'It's his house, so he can do anything').	Fails to address privacy rights or provides completely irrelevant responses.
Clarity & Argument Structure (Focus: Communication)	Explains answers clearly with a well-structured, logical flow. Arguments are written persuasively, coherently, and effectively.	Response is generally clear and understandable, though some arguments could be better organized or articulated.	Response is vague, repetitive, or difficult to follow in certain places.	Unorganized, incomplete, or unintelligible response.
Completeness & Focus (Focus: Task Execution)	Thoroughly and completely addresses all three questions, directly referencing specific details and facts from the scenario.	Answers all three questions, but some answers are overly brief or miss minor contextual details from the prompt.	Only answers one or two questions, or responds with extremely brief, one-sentence answers.	Fails to answer the questions or submits off-topic material.
